

“Life
is for living”

Life is an opportunity

Our motivation to work is generally based on two basic requirements: providing the necessities of everyday life for ourselves and our families, and planning for a time where we have the financial freedom to enjoy a more leisurely lifestyle.

The reality is that achieving your financial and lifestyle goals takes more than just hard work, and rests upon more than your earning power. Realising your dreams for the future is a combination of hard work and good advice.

Life is about making the right choices

The first step in realizing your goals and ambitions is forming a partnership with a financial adviser who is attuned to the issues that affect you and understands how to turn them to your advantage.

An adviser who will help you understand all your options and therefore make the best choices.

An adviser who helps you identify what you can achieve, and stay on track.

An adviser who keeps you informed, so you identify new opportunities to grow your money.

Developing your financial strategies is based upon a comprehensive understanding of you, your dreams, your passions and your goals.

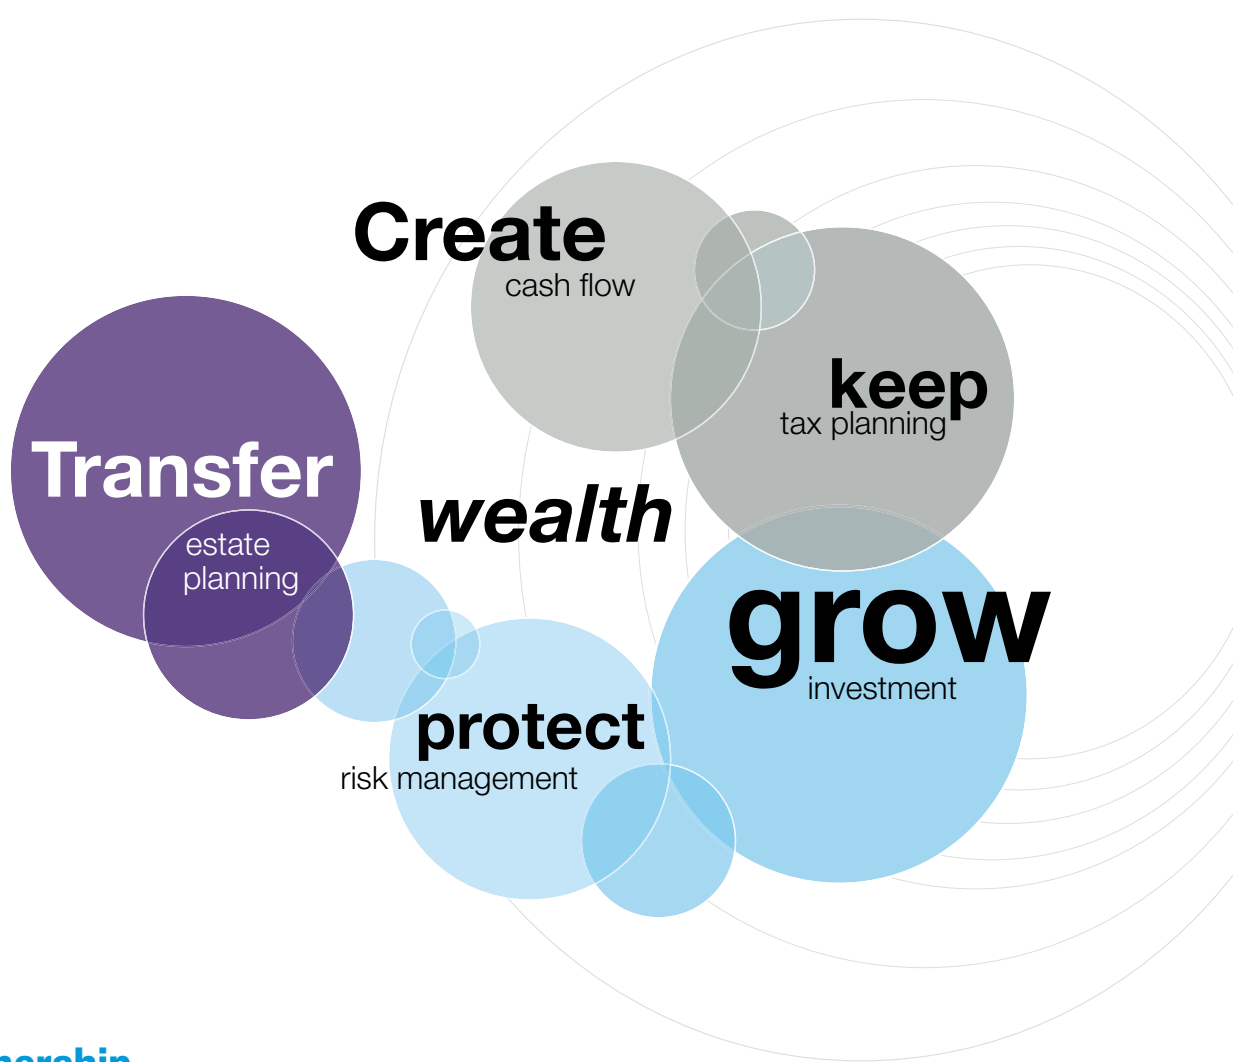

It's your life

An important part of getting what you want out of life, is knowing what you want.

At rmg financial services we have developed a seven point discovery process that allows us to explore with you, all that is needed to take your dreams to reality. The rmg financial services Discovery Star identifies seven key components to achieving your lifestyle goals, considering your individual values and goals, your personal relationships, interests and assets and the processes and advisers you use along the way.

Life is a journey

During your life journey you will experience changes in attitudes, circumstances, beliefs, family, friends and values. This is in addition to the changes imposed by government legislation, social security, taxation, economic conditions, investment markets and finances. These aspects of everyday life will undoubtedly have an impact on the key areas of financial success.

Life partnership

rmg financial services will partner you in your life's journey. Regular contact with your adviser and developing a close relationship means that we can react to changes in your situation in a timely and effective manner.

Knowledge, Integrity, Honesty, Trust

rmg financial services has been built on a foundation of Knowledge, Integrity, Honesty and Trust; qualities that have earned us a reputation for excellence and ensure that you will continually receive service second to none.

Knowledge | Through thorough research of markets, investments, financial products and scenarios, we are able to guide you in making the right decisions for to achieve your dreams.

Integrity | As an award winning Certified Quality Advice Practice, externally audited by Ernst & Young, we are committed to maintaining the highest levels of compliance. These outward indicators of our integrity and the advantages that arise from the rigid protocols that we apply to financial product and service selection, are designed to inspire your confidence in every aspect of our dealings with you.

Honesty | Our honesty extends to an examination of every aspect of our performance, so that we can better meet your needs.

Trust | Earning your trust so that you're comfortable sharing your most intimate goals and objectives allows us to move beyond being an adviser, to a confidant who assists in the management and accumulation of your wealth.

“ Success will never be a big step in the future, success is a small step taken just now. ”
